Conference venue / Date

Göttingen, called city of science, situated in the middle of Germany between the Harz mountains and the Weser river, is well known for its University, the fame of which is enhanced by 43 Nobel Prize Winners.

The historic city centre, enclosed by the remains of the medieval town wall, is home to magnificent churches and half-timbered houses dating from the 14th to the 18th century. Much of the urban life takes place within the old town walls.

Visitors appreciate Göttingen's accessibility by road or train and the atmosphere of the lively city, created by students and people from all over the world alike.

You reach Goettingen

- from Frankfurt airport via Frankfurt main station by ICE-train (about two hours)
- from Hannover airport via Hannover main station by ICE-train (about one hour)

The conference takes place from 9 to 11 October 2008 at the Tiefenbrunn hospital, a well-known psychotherapeutic and psychiatric hospital, founded in 1903, situated within a beautiful park with old stock of trees and streams, about 7 km from the centre of Goettingen (10 minutes from Goettingen station by taxi).

Invited speakers

Fabrizio Bercelli (Bologna, Italy)
Jörg Bergmann (Bielefeld, Germany)
Mike Forrester (Kent, Great Britain)
Ivan Leudar (Manchester, Great Britain)
